

PREFACE¹

The Spirits of God, who are the Heavens' virtues, spread across the surface of the Earth like an immense army that moves upon receiving orders from its command. Like shooting stars, they come to light up the ways and open the eyes of the blind.

Truly I tell you, time has come when everything will be reestablished in their true sense to dispel darkness, confound the proud and glorify the righteous.

The Heaven's great voices resound like trumpets and the angels' songs associate with them. Women and men, we invite you to the divine concert. Take the lyre. In a holy hymn sing unison, and your voices will extend and reverberate from one end of the Universe to the other.

Sisters and brothers whom we love, we are here with you. Love one another! Do the divine will and pray from the bottom of your hearts: God! My God!... and you will be able to enter the Kingdom of Heaven.
